Introduction

Thank you for considering McDonald Hopkins to assist with the state and federal advocacy needs of Cuyahoga County ("County"). We are excited to collaborate with Erskine (Ernie) Cade of Strategic Health Care/Strategic Government Relations in submitting this proposal and believe that no other firm will provide as dynamic of a team to service your needs.

Cuyahoga County is seeking to expand its presence and represent its interest before the state and federal government by assisting in the crafting and implementation of a strategy that will elevate the County's engagement and profile at the state and federal level and preserve and secure support and funding for its key initiatives, projects and interests.

At McDonald Hopkins, we strive to lead the way in our approach to legal and advocacy services and in our commitment to Cleveland, where our firm was founded in 1930. McDonald Hopkins has grown over the years but our passion for making a difference in our community traces back to our beginnings. Now, as we approach our 90th anniversary in 2020, we are honoring our deep roots in Cleveland and reaffirming our commitment to the city by embracing the future with our support of initiatives focused on making a difference in the educational system in Cleveland—as a Cleveland Indians Community Partner, a Say Yes to Education partner, and a College Now of Greater Cleveland partner. Furthermore, we launched the Leaders in Education Lunch Series to highlight the work being done in our community to prioritize education and train our future workforce.

As the County considers which government relations consultants to work with to provide lobbying services for the 2019/2020 session of the Ohio Legislature, we hope the following information will demonstrate that the attorneys and lobbyists on our team have the skills and experience to support the complex needs of the County.

Section 1 – Minimum Qualifications

Since the formation of our government affairs practice in 2003, we have been focusing our approach on meeting the needs of our clients and to interface with government in a strategic and effective manner. Our team is comprised of attorneys and legislative professionals committed to representing our client's interests at all levels of government. Because McDonald Hopkins is a business advisory and advocacy law firm, we are able to offer an array of services and support to our clients in a variety of areas. We regularly utilize the skills and services of other firm professionals such as paralegals and attorneys in an effort to enhance the value received by our clients. We've seen what works and know how to be effective. Our team of professionals has significant experience drafting legislation, procuring funding through state and federal programs, testifying on complex legislation, building and managing coalitions, engaging grass roots advocates, implementing public affairs strategies and influencing the outcome of legislation.

This engagement will be managed by Mike Wise, Chair of the firm's Government Affairs Practice. Assisting Mike will be Dean DePiero and David Ebersole from McDonald Hopkins. Partnering with us will be Erskine Cade from Strategic Government Initiatives.

Mike Wise joined the firm in 2003. Mike was a member of the Ohio House of Representatives from 1992 through 1998. Mike also served as chairman of the Republican Party of Cuyahoga County from 2000 until 2005. Additionally, from 2005 to 2006, Mike was a member of the Ohio Republican Party State Central Committee. Mike co-chaired Governor John Kasich's first campaign here in Cuyahoga County. Mike has been lobbying at the state and federal level since 2000 when he left Governor Bob Taft's administration. His work in Columbus has included work for companies, nonprofits and coalitions. His work in Washington has also been since 2000 and focused on appropriations and regulatory efforts.

Dean DePiero has been Of Counsel with McDonald Hopkins since 2005 while serving as mayor and then upon leaving the mayor's office in 2011. He has a depth of experience working in state and local government as a lawyer and an elected official. He worked extensively in the firm's Government Affairs Practice and spent a majority of his time lobbying and advocating at the state level on behalf of the firm's clients. As a former state legislator and mayor of Ohio's seventh largest city, Dean has used his unique knowledge of state and local government to assist clients in communicating their needs and messaging to policy makers in order to accomplish their goals. His current practice involves government advocacy and relations at the local government level as well as legal representation as City Law Director/Asst. Law Director for various municipalities.

David Ebersole, who is based in Columbus, joined McDonald Hopkins in 2016. He is a former assistant Ohio Attorney General and represented the State Tax Commissioner before the Ohio Supreme Court. Dave has attended Ohio legislative committee hearings on matters of interest to firm clients - including energy and tax issues.

Erschine "Ernie" Cade

We are pleased to collaborate with Erschine Cade on this project. Ernie is a partner with Strategic Government Initiatives. Over the last 30 years he has been one of the most recognized, effective and dynamic lobbyists in Ohio and DC. We will be working with Erschine as a subcontractor and key member of our team. He has been lobbying at the state and federal levels of government since 1985 and has lobbied almost every statehouse in the U.S. except for the southwest states. He began his lobbying experience with the Standard Oil Company Ohio/BP where his initial assignments were for the northeastern-Mid-Atlantic states that included states from Massachusetts to Maine, Rhode Island, and Vermont. That was followed by lobbying all the southeast states from Tennessee to Florida. He then became responsible for states in the Midwest (Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, and Wisconsin). He moved to KeyBank in 2002 and had lobbying responsibility for the entire U.S., state and federal governments. He had responsibility for five registered lobbyists and assigned them geographical territories that included staff to the northeastern states, the northwestern and pacific states (Washington State-Alaska). He took personal responsibility for the Midwest states in particular the State of Ohio. He also assisted in the federal lobbying activities.

Our team was assembled with one goal in mind: client satisfaction. Our mantra focuses on respect - respect for the process, respect for the people and respect for the client.

Our Process

Detect introduction of legislation that may affect the client

When McDonald Hopkins is engaged by a client, as a matter of course we meet with the committee chairs with jurisdiction over policy matters of interest to the client to inform them of our representation. As part of this, the chairs – and appropriate staff – work with us to make sure that we are properly informed of legislation that may be of interest to our client.

Track progress of pertinent legislation that has been introduced

McDonald Hopkins tracks pertinent legislation on a regular basis, through both formal bill tracking methods such as committee notices and subscription services, as well as through ongoing dialogue with bill sponsors or with the office of the committee chair. We work closely with these offices to ensure not just a general awareness of the status of legislation, but to schedule interested party meetings, testimony and other forms of communication that we utilize to advance our client interests.

Lobby legislators, staff and executive branch concerning pertinent legislation

We believe that any effective lobbying effort must be part of a broad advocacy strategy – which is precisely what we develop when lobbying on behalf of our client. Aside from direct interaction with legislators, staff and the executive branch, we look to maximize resources that may advance our client’s interests, e.g., third party experts or similarly aligned stakeholders. In an effort to coordinate this, McDonald Hopkins develops a comprehensive legislative action plan that serves as the blue print for our lobbying strategy. We assess the legislative landscape on a comprehensive basis and determine the appropriate strategy needed to navigate the landscape on a project by project basis. Although this plan is the blueprint for our strategy, we recognize the need to modify action items as the landscape evolves, which we do accordingly.

Communicate on a regular basis with the County using a method determined by the County, concerning the status, prospects, movement, opposition, support, etc., of pertinent legislation

We believe that communication is paramount when working with our clients, and strive to develop our communications plan in whatever fashion is most advantageous to the client. Some clients prefer weekly update calls, while others prefer email update when warranted.

For this particular engagement, we would have an initial kickoff meeting with the county executive and team to understand your needs. At least initially, we would recommend a set call on a weekly basis. The number of policy items that will be of interest to you is significant, and we will want to be sure that nothing "slips through the cracks" as our advocacy strategy gets implemented.

Regularly communicate with key legislative committee chairs, members and staff to inform them of County interests and learn about potential legislative developments before they occur

As previously stated, one of our initial action steps upon being engaged will be to meet with key legislative and agency offices to make the appropriate individuals aware of our representation. Aside from our belief that this is appropriate protocol, it enables us to lay the groundwork to be notified of policy discussions of interest before they arise, when possible.

Review each issue of the state administrative register and identify any proposed regulations that may affect the County

We have worked with several state agencies of direct interest to the County (including the Ohio Department of Health, Ohio Department of Mental Health and Addiction Services, Ohio Department of Job and Family Services and the Ohio Department of Medicaid) on rule development and promulgation. Additionally, we have participated in several rulemaking discussions with the Joint Committee on Agency Rule Review ("JCARR"), and the Common Sense Initiative ("CSI").

Monitor the status, opposition/support and prospects of pertinent proposed regulations

One of the more under-represented elements of policy development is the rule making process. Too often, laws that are enacted are either broadly framed or defer major policy considerations to state agencies for interpretation. Recognizing this reality, we have developed a significant element of our practice toward working with state agencies, rule making bodies and interested parties to ensure that any regulatory decisions of interest to our clients are given the same emphasis in our advocacy strategy as legislative efforts receive.

Maintain a thorough understanding of the administrative rulemaking process in the state, including both the stages required under state law, and those at the discretion of the agencies

Our experiences working with several state agencies, JCARR and CSI have offered us a wide array of interactions over the years regarding the rule making process. As such, we expect the unexpected. What is key for us, however, is to prepare for a litany of road maps we are asked to navigate. Because of our team's experience, we have consistently demonstrated the ability to effectively achieve our client's goals and objective through these processes.

Schedule and represent the County in scheduling meetings with legislators

Our office manages all scheduling for legislative and executive offices. Our scheduler is regularly in communication with legislative offices as meeting times change due to longer than anticipated committee hearings, session or other unexpected delays. In advance of any meetings that have been scheduled on your behalf, our office will provide you with a detailed itinerary of the day, the biography of each person with whom we are meeting (when available) and any other information that will make your day at the statehouse as efficient as it can be.

Attend County meetings including, County Council as requested to do so by the County

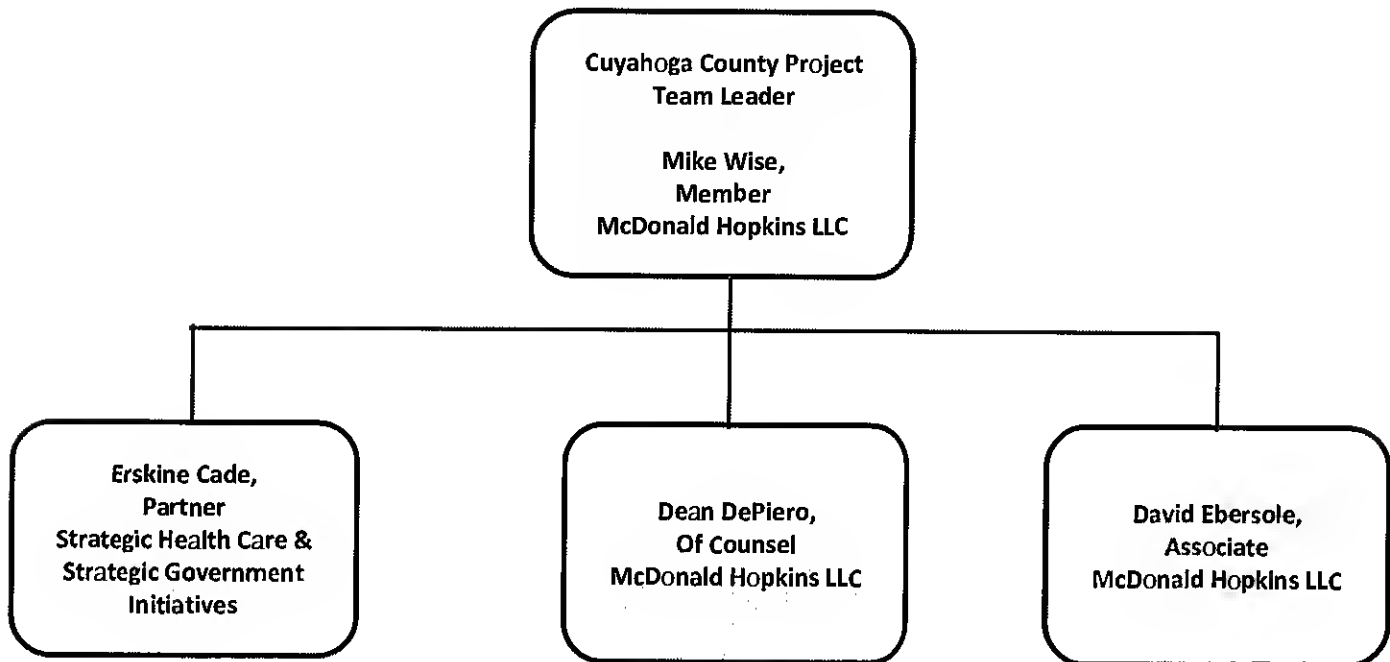

We pride ourselves on being available for our clients. Not only would we make ourselves available to attend these types of meetings, we would request to attend as many as possible. The more we learn about the County, the more interaction that we have with both the council and general membership, the more effectively we can articulate and advance the policy initiatives of significance to you.

Recommend development of appropriate coalitions

Not only do we make recommendations for the development of appropriate coalitions, we prioritize it. We recognize that potential coalition partners may vary from one policy area to another, and we have demonstrated an ability to pivot when necessary, but the utilization of a strong coalition – particularly when attempting to advance a policy initiative – is a critical tool to have available.

Section III – Staff Experience

Our team includes dedicated attorneys and lobbyists, a specialized team of paralegals and administrative professionals. Based on our understanding of your needs, we propose the following service team:

Section IV – Contract Methodology

Government affairs work is so much more than networking with government officials. It requires a strategic process developed by specialists who understand the relationship between policy and politics. A well thought-out and well implemented strategic plan is critical to true success in government affairs – achieving good government policy without an understanding of the political landscape is very difficult. Our government affairs team has an impressive background and a proven record of balancing good government policy and good politics to achieve our client's objectives. We have earned this record by using our unique approach to government affairs.

Our approach can best be described as a flexible four phase process of Evaluation, Development, Implementation, and Evolution.

Phase I - Evaluation: Our team meets with our client to listen and gain an understanding of their business, inventory their concerns and objectives, and assess opportunities. Similarly, we invest time to gain an understanding of the political landscape from relevant officials and other parties regarding the client or the issue for which the client has particular interest.

Phase II - Development: After gaining a thorough understanding of our client's government objectives and the surrounding landscape, we develop recommendations on how to achieve the client's objectives. We then develop a customized Government Affairs Action Plan (GAAP) to detail the steps necessary to implement our recommendations.

Phase III - Implementation: After obtaining approval of the final GAAP from our client, we "fill in the GAAP" by implementing the various steps of the work plan.

Phase IV - Evolution: As the GAAP is implemented, experience shows that the plan will have to evolve and be responsive to the ever-changing political and policy landscape. During regular meetings with our client, we work with our client to evolve the GAAP.

We believe this disciplined approach and the related GAAP is unique and very effective in achieving our client's goals.

HHS argues upholding Kavanaugh's ruling could "substantially undermine" its ability to administer the huge health program.
 - o The nonprofits refute that argument, saying Medicare law requires the agency to seek feedback when it wants to make big changes, such as when it cut disproportionate share, or DSH, payments to the hospitals.
 - o Kavanaugh ruled HHS should have gone through a notice-and-comment period and is recusing himself from Tuesday's arguments.
- Arkansas removes another 1,200 Medicaid enrollees over work rule

- Economic Indicators:
 - March GRF receipts totaled $2,367.0 million and were $4.4 million (0.2%) above the estimate. For the month, tax revenues were $66.0 million (4.7%) above estimate, led by the foreign insurance tax (making up for that source's shortfall in February) and followed by the non-auto sales tax. Nonfederal revenues were below estimate by $65.4 million (4.5%). Once again, federal grants were well below estimate, missing expected revenues by $61.0 million (6.7%). This shortfall was due to GRF Medicaid spending being $73.8 million below estimate.

Tax revenues are $137.0 million (0.8%) above estimate, and non-federal revenues are $137.4 million (0.8%) above estimate. Federal grants are $485.0 million (6.2%) below estimate, but this is not a net negative for the GRF, since it is driven by Medicaid GRF underspending of $629.4 million (5.2%).
